Sen. Lewis Scores DOT for Right-of-Way Problems

And Still Another State Rd. 80 Meeting

It got tough time for Sen. Phil Lewis and the Department of Transportation over State Rd. 80 this Thursday.

Lewis demanded in an Aug. 1 letter to the DOT that everybody concerned get together and hash out the latest problems. Biggest among those problems was right-of-way between the Glades Court House and U.S. 441.

Lewis got his meeting this Thursday at the court house in Delray Beach.

Besides Lewis and State House member Tom Lewis, Secretary of Transportation Walter Rell is expected to be there and Ben Simpson, District Engineer. A "whole host" of other engineers is supposed to be there, according to a Lewis aide.

At a Canal Hazards Safety Committee meeting Wednesday chairman Frank Jones contended the DOT's latest reasoning on right-of-way is faulty.

What the DOT has stated on right-of-way is that they can buy 13.7 miles of right-of-way at least 400-foot wide and maybe as wide as 550-foot and to the job cheaper than having a 200-foot strip donated.

If that doesn't make sense then the reader is in agreement with Jones.

Where the DOT says it is going to save money it is hauling in the fill material. With the 200-foot right-of-way (100-foot on either side of the section line which in most cases has two different land owners donating 100-foot each) fill material would have to be hauled in from canals in the area.

With the 400-foot right-of-way (all on one side of the section line) thereby taking all the land from one owner instead of two and a 100 to 150 foot set back from the section line the DOT figures it can get its fill material on the spot and save itself some money.

In fact, Simpson claims his department has figured out the DOT can save up to $5 million. In a letter to Lewis confirming the meeting in Delray Beach Simpson states:

"The evaluation indicates that the present proposal for the highway with right-of-way being contributed and with fill material being donated in from various canals would result in a project cost of approximately $5 million over and above those costs which could be expected in purchasing the right-of-way for the facility and purchasing borrow materials along that facility."

One of the flaws Jones is quick to point out is in the allowance DOT makes for purchasing the right-of-way. Jones estimated that land would run about $2,000 an acre. This would make land cost alone between $1.7 million and $2 million.

Jones said the DOT had allowed $800,000. He also stated that the cost of the land would only be part of the expenditure. Some damage would have to be paid for the sugar cane already growing on the land.

At present Jones estimates he has about 51 per cent of the right-of-way donated. But the donated land is under the assumption that it is 100-foot on either side of the section line—not the 400-foot on one side the DOT is now talking about.

"Frankly, I would be hesitant to go back to the land owners and ask for the 400-foot," said Jones. "I don't think we would get any of it donated."

Lewis has built up a reputation of getting people together in one room and knocking heads until a solution is brought about. It was just such meetings which helped along 1965 in Palm Beach County.

He was quite blunt in his letter to Simpson about the meeting Thursday.

Lewis states in his letter that while Jones had what he (Lewis) would call "hangin' power," if he were part of the Canal Hazards Safety Committee he would be thoroughly disgusted with the DOT.

In other action the Committee nominated Jones for this third consecutive term as chairman. Duncan Padgett, Mayor of Pahokee, was nominated as vice-chairman, Bill Gravelly as secretary and Rupert Mock as treasurer.

"I was going through some files," said Jones, "and I found where Arnold Ramos is State Rd. engineer no longer with the department I was promoting back in 1968 that this road would be under construction."

"I hate to leave a job half done. I feel we have made some progress. We now have them promising us construction in six months rather than four years."

Adams Hits A Good Lick In Belle Glade

"Hit a good lick in there."

Tom Adams smiled that quickish smile as he looked quickly out of the Glades Dining Room.

The ultimate campaigner, the man some people still refer to as "that crook," was doing what he liked to do best in Belle Glade late Tuesday. He was out meeting the people.

"You know, I love to do this," he told a photographer trying to keep up with him. "I wish there was enough time to shake everybody's hand in Florida."

"Hello sir, may I introduce myself to you. I'm Tom Adams, Lt. Governor. Good to meet you."

Flash. The literature telling what Tom Adams is running for and why was in the met person's hands.

"Hey, Tom Adams," came the reply from a couple people. "Haven't seen you around here in quite some time."

"Oh, I was down here about 1971-72 to make sure that labor things got straightened out with the sugar cane people," Adams quickly reminds. He's proud of his work in agriculture, the reorganization of agricultural services and his work in the labor field during his tenure as Secretary of Commerce.

What about the "crook" label? Adams says, "I was down in Miami Beach the other day and somebody handed one of the worst waitress my card and I overheard her say, 'I can't vote for him, he's a crook.' But that's the only time I've heard it brought up."

"People only remember the headlines. But it was proven I never had a state employee working on my ranch on state time. Sure, I had an administrative assistant that ran errands for me. Everybody does. But the grand jury said there was nothing more there to investigate."

Adams says he finds people throughout the state disgruntled. He finds them annoyed at the irresponsiveness of government in Tallahassee.

"I have been received very well wherever I have gone," said Adams. "But I find the people most displeased with Governor Reubin Askew."

"We're going to make a horse race of this thing yet," he said.

WEAVER GANG PLUS HATTON AND PEASE CONSPIRE AT GOP MEET
...Republican candidates for office were invited to Pahokee to express their views

Hatton Speaks Against Rocky As VP Choice

If the Republican State Committee around the county, including Florida's, had been stronger and had more of their voices heard, President Ford might have made a different choice for Vice President, Betty Hatton, a candidate for a post on the state's Republican policy-making board, said this week.

"If Palm Beach County Republicans had a choice, I'm sure they wouldn't have picked Nelson Rockefeller," Mrs. Hatton added.

Mrs. Hatton, who is making her first bid for elective office following many years of volunteer service to the county G.O.P., said she agreed with most other Americans that President Ford needs and deserves the support of all the people from both parties but added that she regretted that President Ford had picked former New York Governor Rockefeller for his second post in the administration.

"Mr. Rockefeller does not represent the mainstream of Republicans around the country and certainly not here in Palm Beach County," Mrs. Hatton said.

"If we had a stronger voice for Palm Beach County in the State Committee, perhaps we could have been heard and perhaps the State Committee could have been heard during the time President Ford was making up his mind," she added.

"Now that the President has spoken, I pledge my complete support to him and for his new Vice President," she added.

"One of the real problems we have experienced in the past has been the lack of representation on the State Committee," Mrs. Hatton said.

"It's nice to have your picture taken with important people but its far more important to represent the people who elected you," she added.

"As your State Committeewoman, I will actively represent your interests during committee meetings," Mrs. Hatton pledged during a meeting of Republicans in the Glades recently.

"I won't be an absentee member of the State Committee," she said.

Mrs. Hatton declared her candidacy for the post because, she said, "I think every young person in a Palm Beach County native and has been active in community affairs for a number of years. She is planning her candidacy on a call for a new "grass roots" approach to politics, especially at the county level.

She is a candidate in the September 10th primary in Palm Beach County for Republican State Committeewoman.

Is Flood Insurance on Way?

The late President Herbert Hoover may have some say so in whether Belle Glade must partake in the federal flood disaster insurance scheme.

The city has been notified that it is in what is considered a flood prone area. Therefore it must apply for participation in the National Flood Insurance program or suffer the consequences.

One other avenue—an appeal showing the area not to be flood prone—is also open. Therein lies the rub.

City Attorney John Baker pointed out the stipulation in the second paragraph of the notifying letter from the Federal Insurance Administrator, George E. Buranstin.

The second paragraph states in part:

"If you believe that your community either is not seriously flood prone, or that such flood hazards as may have existed have been corrected by floodworks or other flood control methods, the community may appeal the proposed determination."

"This may necessitate going all the way back to 1927-38 to look up," said Baker. "It was a directive from Herbert Hoover which initiated the dam around Lake Okechobee and the forming of the flood control district after the disaster of 1928. I don't know from what background the FIA was writing this letter, but this may eliminate the Glades from the flood prone area."

"If anyone in Palm Beach County has water control, the Glades has it. This is only at first blush, however. I will have to study this thoroughly before making a final recommendation."

According to City Manager William Mallory, the determination of the flood prone area is not made clear by the FIA.

"It appears that the only place where we are flood prone is on the golf course, the marina and inside the right-of-way to the Hillsborough Canal," said Mallory. "Now, does this mean that only these areas are flood prone or is the entire city flood prone because these areas exist within it?"

The penalties for not complying with the insurance are stiff. And the letter seems to spell out specifically the question Mallory raised.

The letter states:

"Communities where special flood hazard areas have been formally identified must be actively participating in the program by June 30, 1975, (or one year after the identification whichever is later), or else no federal financial assistance such as loans or grants and not mortgage loans from federally insured or regulated banks or savings and loan associations, will thereafter be available for buildings within these identified special hazard areas."

Mallory said this also raised another question of whether disaster relief funds for non-flood related disasters would be available if the city did not participate in the flood insurance scheme.

The entire text of the letter which has put the city on notice that it is a flood prone area follows:

ADAMS HITS A LICK IN BELLE GLADE RESTAURANTS TUESDAY
...he's running for Governor on the Democratic ticket against Reubin Askew

Clean Sweep!!

A new broom sweeps clean—that's for sure—but where and for how much?

Those were two of the questions the city commission spent over 15 minutes debating at Tuesday night's city commission meeting.

It all started with an innocent enough comment by Commissioner Ralph Kirk. Kirk said the owner of Mock's store on Ave. E had asked him if the city would mind letting its street cleaner sweep his parking lot.

"He's not asking for a donation or anything," said Kirk. "He's willing to pay a fair price."

That suggestion started the argument.

Straw Ballots Results

A proposal to construct a new city hall was overwhelmingly defeated in a straw ballot conducted by The Belle Glade Herald this past week.

One of the two yes votes was qualified by the statement, "but not an elaborate design—too costly."

Some no voters wrote comments as well. The most extensive came from Mary Lou Motes of Belle Glade who wrote, "I feel the question should have been worded differently. The need may be there as for many things but let's put first things first! Our first needs as a city is adequate sewer and water facilities, this way the city of Belle Glade could grow and increase revenue to support a new city hall."

There may be a need but it certainly should not precede the more urgent needs of sewer and water improvements.

"My answer—no, not now."

There were two more succinct ones such as, "A ripoff on taxpayer." Or, "We need a sewer plant more."

No City Hall

We have had excellent response to our straw ballot on the new city hall.

For deadline purposes, this editorial is being written many hours before the deadline for the straw ballots passed. But even now the ballots are running heavily against a new city hall.

At this early hour it looks as if the people have already spoken.

We, of course, have campaigned long and loud against a new city hall project at this time. We feel there should be more sewer built first.

City officials say there is no conflict. They say the money to build sewers from the federal government is separate from the money to build city halls. They say it is not an either/or proposition.

But what about all the local funds being spent on the city hall. City officials have confirmed that if the city scrapped all plans for a city hall at this time that the city would still have to pay the architects in the neighborhood of $35,000. The fact the architect designed a 1,066 million dollar city hall when he was asked to design something in the neighborhood of $600,000 doesn't cut any ice. He still gets paid.

Time is another element. How much time has each commissioner spent on the new city hall project. Could they have better spent that time trying to work something out on our building moratorium?

Our vote is no too on a new city hall.

Bah, Humbug!!

Politics—bah!!

What happened to the good old days when political rallies were held and all the candidates got up and spoke to the issues. What happened to the civic groups that sponsored such rallies?

What do we get today instead? We get posters stuck all over town. And we get cars shoved in our hands or left to stare at us from every eating establishment in town.

We conducted a small experiment down here at this paper during this city election. In the past we have always sat down with each candidate and asked him his views on the issues.

But we had to go to the candidate. We had to ask him what he thought.

So this year we decided to sit back and watch what happened. Sure enough it was what we predicted. None of the candidates have come to us with the issues.

This campaign seems to be more along the lines of emotion rather than issues. Belle Glade is a great place to live in many respects—but there are lots of things which can stand changing and improving.

So far no issues have surfaced. Goodness only knows there are enough of them to keep five city elections hopping. We are disappointed in seeing the election take such a turn.

Right On, Betty!!

Betty Hatton, candidate for state committee woman on the Republican ticket, hit the nail on the head this past Friday night at a Republican candidates' night dinner at the Pahokee Elks Club.

She said that if the Glades had more representation—a stronger voice if you will—Nelson Rockefeller might never have been named vice president by President Gerald Ford. An understatement this, if there ever was one.

Ford couldn't have picked a person further from the mainstream of Glades thinking than Nelson Rockefeller. If any appointment could have sealed his doom more with conservative Republicans than the appointment of Rockefeller, we don't know of it.

So let's get back to the point at home. All you Republicans, Betty Hatton is running for state committeewoman. This means if she is elected she will be a voting member of the Florida delegation at the nominating convention in 1976.

It may be a small voice—but let's see to it the Glades is heard in 1976.

Senator Power

Lawton Chiles is taking more of an active interest in State Rd. 80.

This can only help the Glades. While the project is not a federal one as Chiles has pointed out, having the weight of a real live U.S. Senator thrown behind it can only expedite the project.

Everyone in the Glades should sit down and write Chiles a letter about the road and thank him for his interest. Getting that road four-laned even one year ahead of the DOT's schedule might save your life or the life of a loved one.

It is a menace as it now exists—this anybody who has driven it once can plainly see. It is a shame the DOT doesn't really want to build this road. If it did the road would be scheduled for completion in 1975, not 1985—even then.

Short Gestation

Dear Sir:

In accordance with the provisions of section 201 of the Flood Disaster Protection Act of 1973 (P.L. 93-234, December 31, 1973, hereinafter referred to as the 1973 Act), the purpose of this letter is to give you formal notice of the tentative identification by the Federal Insurance Administration (FIA), on behalf of the Secretary of Housing and Urban Development, that your community contains one or more areas having special flood hazards. A map showing the boundaries of the areas affected by the proposed identification is enclosed.

The effect of this notification, as required under the 1973 Act, is to inform communities that are not presently participating in the National Flood Insurance Program of the flood danger to which they appear to be exposed and to give them an opportunity to enroll promptly in the program so that their residents will be protected financially against future flood losses, since flood insurance is not available privately. However, if you believe that your community either is not seriously flood prone, or that such flood hazards as may have existed have been corrected by floodworks or other flood control methods, the community may appeal the proposed determination.

If it desires to appeal, the community, at any time during the next six months, should submit to FIA whatever technical or scientific data it may have that is sufficient to prove its contention that it is not flood-prone. If the Federal Insurance Administration concurs in the evidence submitted, then the proposed identification will be cancelled.

If the community does not successfully refute FIA's proposed identification, then it must seek eligibility for the sale of Federally-subsidized flood insurance by adopting preliminary land use and control measures to help reduce or avoid flood losses and by applying to FIA for participation in the program.

Generally, flood insurance can be made available within two weeks after receipt of a complete application. Flood insurance will then be available through any licensed property insurer agent or broker in the community.

Communities where special flood hazard areas have been formally identified must be actively participating in the program by June 30, 1975 for one year after identification, whichever is later, or else no Federal financial assistance, such as loans or grants, and no mortgage loans from Federally insured or regulated banks or savings and loan associations will thereafter be available for buildings within these identified special hazard areas. The details of this prohibition are set out in section 202 of the 1973 Act (1 copy enclosed) and in the individual regulations of the various Federal agencies.

In addition to its community participation requirement, the 1973 Act also requires that individuals within eligible areas purchase flood insurance in connection with all Federal or Federally-related assistance (including mortgage loans from Federally-insured lending institutions) that is received after March 1, 1974, for buildings within identified special flood hazard areas. The amount of flood insurance required is the amount of the land balance or the maximum amount of insurance available, whichever is less.

Aside from these new participation requirements, the 1973 Act essentially constitutes an expansion and improvement of the National Flood Insurance Program authorized under the National Flood Insurance Act of 1968 (P.L. 90-488, August 1, 1968; 42 U.S.C. 4011-4127). The 1973 Act provided greatly increased limits of subsidized and total coverage, repealed the provision that would have denied Federal disaster assistance after December 31, 1973, for those who could have purchased flood insurance but did not do so (this requirement was replaced with the insurance purchase requirement explained above), and permitted substantial reductions in subsidized flood insurance premium rates.

We believe the National Flood Insurance Program has been greatly improved by the 1973 Act and that over flood-prone community in the United States will eventually benefit from its provisions. The provisions of the 1968 Act requiring the adoption and periodic updating of adequate local land use and control measures within the flood plain as a condition of continued eligibility for Federal flood insurance remains unchanged, however. These requirements are set out in section 1910.3 of the enclosed program regulations.

More than 3,000 communities had voluntarily entered the National Flood Insurance Program before this letter was written, and more are applying each day. We have therefore enclosed a packet of materials that will assist you in making application, and we would be glad to assist you in any other way that we can. The telephone number of the Office of Flood Insurance within FIA is (202) 755-5261.

Please let us hear from you at your earliest convenience.

Things like Tommy Altman quitting a good job with the city and qualifying for a city commission race at the last minute just don't happen.

There had to be some planning and some backing. Don't believe it if somebody tells you there are no political cliques in city government.

Altman is a bright young man who follows through on ideas. People working with the Chamber of Commerce have told me he is an exceptionally responsive city employee.

But unless he went into this race with some real strong guarantees from some real strong people to carry them out, he is terribly misguided. I certainly hope this isn't the case because Tom has always been most cooperative with this newspaper concerning city government. Now, what he does to me on a golf course is another matter we won't go into here.

Florida Sugar Industries Begin '74-75 Season

The Florida sugar industry started its 1974-75 planting season August 26, stated Nelson Fairbanks, vice president & general manager of the Florida Sugar Cane League. We'll be using approximately 200 workers to cut seed cane and plant it for the 1975-76 crop, he added. The week of August 19, six sugar industry recruiting teams visited 35 employment offices in Florida trying to find workers to cut cane. After a considerable amount of recruiting, 93 workers were hired for the jobs, said Earl Morrison, personnel manager for U.S. Sugar Corporation. Only 19 actually came to work. Since we need 950 cane cutters, the rest will have to be off-shore workers from Jamaica, Morrison said. "We've done this recruiting, the government calls it 'positive recruiting,' since World War II," he stated. "This is a continuing effort to attract domestic workers for this employment."

This year the industry will spend about $60,000 in advertising for these jobs, according to Morrison. We will continue to recruit in Florida and the Southeastern states as the season progresses.

The 1974-75 harvest season will begin in November, stated Fairbanks. Sugar cane production, according to USDA's Crop Reporting Board, is estimated at 8.3 million tons, practically the same as the 1973 crop.

Harvested acres of cane is expected to total 278,000 acres, up four percent from the 265,000 acres harvested during the previous season, according to Fairbanks.

However, USDA reported the average yield is expected to be 1.4 tons per acre less than last year's low yield of 31.4 tons. Freezing weather during December damaged young plant, and cane stubble, which caused a lower yield.

We've also experienced a good bit of rain and a few id good bit of rain and a few of our growers have had some water standing in their fields, he mentioned.

Although we are looking forward to a good harvest season, Fairbanks said, we don't anticipate breaking any production records.

Farmers Have Rights Also

ORLANDO - "Farmers have just as much right to fair profit as anyone else," Fred Montadecca, president of the Agribusiness Institute of Florida, declared here this week.

Speaking of continuing stories of rising food prices and resultant consumer criticism, Montadecca said the food and fibre producer and processor has constantly increasing costs just as all businessmen do.

"Food production," he said, "has in recent years been forced to become highly sophisticated in order to continue to serve the needs of the consumer with quality, nutritious product. Today's farmer is a well-educated person who must utilize horticultural skills along with those of business and financial management. Yet he seems generally expected to get along on income below that of his fellow-citizens."

The agribusiness leader asked consumers to be fair and realistic in their thinking and to remember the American homemaker still spends a smaller percentage of total family income on food than does the homemaker in any other nation.

Montadecca's group, the Agribusiness Institute of Florida, is a non-profit organization telling the story of agribusiness to the Florida consumer. Membership includes food producers, processors and distributors as well as agricultural supply and service organizations.

FCD Acts on Issues

Major water resource issues affecting several sections of the Central and Southern Florida Flood Control District (FCD) were acted on by the FCD Governing Board at its meeting Aug. 16.

The meeting included such crucial issues as the discharge of water from Lake Okechobee and current flooding problems in Hendry County.

In discussing the FCD budget, proposals for the 1974-75 fiscal year, the item of water discharge from Lake Okechobee was raised. Discharges have been necessitated by the unusually large amounts of rain that have fallen on the state since June. To maintain a safe Lake level during the hurricane season, the water was discharged.

There is no doubt in our minds that if the work around Lake Okechobee to raise the Lake level to 17.5 feet were completed, we would not need to be discharging this water now, said Clark.

As this point, Zeb Grant, Field Services Director, stated that the Corps had advised that St. Lucie Canal discharges have been reduced to 3000 cubic feet per second.

The Corps of Engineers' plan to raise the lake was first proposed in 1948, but funding from the Federal Government has been inadequate to complete the construction of the Hoover Dike and attendant facilities to make the higher level safe for surrounding landowners.

Bill Storch, FCD Director of Resource Planning, said the additional capacity of the Lake will total about a million acre feet of water-enough to have provided needed relief during the recent drought and to eliminate the need to discharge water now.

The FCD is asking the Federal Government for $6.33 million for fiscal year 1976 to complete the work on the Lake. The last major lock and spillway structure is currently under construction at Port Mayaca. Clark noted that the District hopes to be able to raise the Lake level by 1977.

The Board agreed to work with private landowners in Hendry County to relieve the recurrent flooding problems in the eastern portion of that county. The agreement entails additional culverts being placed in area canals to take the water off the affected land more quickly.

The Board noted that this program will probably not give relief this year, but will be in operation by next rainy season and should be of some help to the area until the permanent program designed by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers can be completed.

Q. I have heard that there is a cherry tree that will grow in South Florida that produces fruit high in Vitamin C. Can you give me some details on it?

The Barbados cherry or West Indian cherry (Malpighia glabra L.) is valued for its fruits, which are extremely rich in Vitamin C, and for its use in landscaping. It serves well as a specimen plant or as a border hedge when set 2 ft. to 4 ft. apart. It sometimes reaches a height of 12 ft. The five-petaled flowers are pale pink to rose colored. In this area, it usually blooms in April and continues throughout the summer. Two or three crops of fruit usually mature from early May to November.

The fruits are thin-skinned and are easily bruised and highly perishable. They are soft and juicy and range in taste from tart to almost sweet. They vary in size from 1/4 inch to slightly more than 1/2 inch. They are three-lobed and vary in color from light to crimson red. The fruits may be borne singly or in clusters of two or three. They are used to make tins, beverages, preserves, jams and jellies.

Propagation is most successful by hardwood cuttings, sand, or a mixture of any of these materials may be used as a rooting medium. The cuttings should be kept moist and under shade. Either a constant or an interrupted water mist will aid in preventing dehydration and will hasten rooting. The cuttings should be 5 inches to 10 inches long and 1/4 inch to 1/2 inch in diameter. Two or three leaves should be left on the upper portion of the stem. Branches are formed within two months. Air layering may be done during spring or summer when the plants are growing. Roots should form in from four to six weeks without removing them from the enclosing stems. If they are cleaned of all flesh and allowed to dry before being planted, a seed protectant will help prevent damping-off. Germination is frequently less than 50 per cent.

Plants should be fertilized just before new growth starts in late February with a 6-6-6 analysis fertilizer at the rate of about one pound of fertilizer for each year of life of the tree. In May, July, and September, a 4-8-8 fruit fertilizer may be used at the same rate. Apply fertilizer from near the trunk to one or two feet beyond the spread of the branches. After four to ten years, the amount of fertilizer applied each year should remain constant, 10 lbs. for each application in May, July, and September, and 5 lbs. in the early spring.

Duck Season Opens

TALLAHASSEE—The 1974-75 season for hunting migratory ducks and geese will open at 12:00 noon on Wednesday, Nov. 27 and continue with daily hunting, except in Leon County and Lake Micouche in Jefferson county, through Jan. 20, 1975.

In announcing the season for duck and geese hunting, Dr. O.E. Fry, director, Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission, said, "By selecting a noon opening for the first day of hunting, Florida sportsmen will be able to enjoy a full season of 55 days. If the Commission had elected to continue with the traditional Thanksgiving morning opening we would have lost five days of duck hunting."

Fry continued, "The Federal season framework provided a choice of a 50 day season with a morning opening or a 55 day season with a noon opening. In the past Florida duck hunters have always expressed desire for the maximum hunting opportunity."

Duck hunters in Florida will again participate in a point system that will govern the daily bag limit. The daily limit is reached when the point value of the last bird taken reaches or exceeds 100 points. Point values are assigned as follows:

100 points - falcon tree duck
70 points - Florida duck, wood duck, hen mallard, black duck and hooded merganser.
25 points - drake mallard, pintail, green-winged teal, ring-necked duck, gadwall, widgeon (halfpate), ruddy duck, shoveler, buffbreast, and goldeneye.
10 points - mealy (bluebill), blue-winged teal, red-breasted and American merganser, and all sea ducks.

Fry stated, "There will be no open season for canvasback or redhead ducks during the 1974-75 season. In addition Florida sportsmen are reminded that the season is closed to all goose hunting."

The daily point system will not apply to coot hunting. The daily bag limit for coot is 15 per day. In addition to the regular statewide waterfowl hunting season of Nov. 27, through Jan. 20 there will be a special 10 day season-only hunting season in designated areas. The season-only season will run from Jan. 21 through Jan. 31.

Legal shooting hours for ducks and geese are from one-half hour before sunrise, to sunset, except on opening day, Nov. 27, when the legal hours are from 12:00 noon to sunset.

In England, it's believed that a duck's head is buried in the water prevents head-ache.

Survey Shows Support for Cutback

A survey of Floridians' attitudes on priorities for federal spending shows overwhelming support for cutbacks in federal spending to help combat inflation.

The mail survey, conducted by Senator Lawton Chiles (D-Fla.), a member of the Senate's new budget committee, asked Florida voters to assess former President Nixon's $205 billion budget proposal now before Congress and note their preference for increased or reduced spending in each of the twelve main budget areas.

"People seem well aware that tens of billions of dollars in federal deficits have helped create the inflationary crisis the economy faces today," noted Chiles.

Not a single national need area received a majority response for increased federal spending and in only three areas did support for more spending exceed the demand for cutbacks by narrow margins. They are national resources and environment (37% more; 29% less; 34% no change); health (35% more; 27% less; 38% no change); and veterans benefits (32% more; 19% less; 49% no change).

Foreign aid (64% less; 5% more) and national defense (50% less; 17% more) were top targets for spending cuts. Chiles also spearheaded the drive for a domestic summit meeting on the economy along with a bipartisan group of four other freshman senators, a proposal President Ford has now agreed to.

Commenting on the value of the priorities survey beyond the immediate results that were tabulated, Chiles commented:

"Ever since I arrived in Washington, I've been concerned with the growing alienation of the people from their government - a feeling that the individual citizen has much control. Declining voter turnout signals just how deeply that frustration has spread."

"What's been missing is the mechanism for people to express their will, to have some meaningful input. The response to this budget survey demonstrated that consulting with the people on how their government spends their money and for what purposes is one way to forge a new link between people and their government."

"It also helps them to understand the gut issues we in the Congress must face up to. For all the value you might see in such spending program on its own merits, you're forced to add them up when you do the bottom line leaves a lot of red ink that we simply can no longer tolerate." Results of the survey follow:

LABOR DAY

On each year our day in honor of its working people. And rightly so. Our land is rich in natural resources, but it is the skill of our people in converting these materials into usable goods, that truly makes us rich. And it is the willingness of our people to labor that has enabled us to become the strongest and most powerful nation in all of history.

The fact that our citizens have the freedom to choose the type of work each finds best suited for, increases the willingness to work. The right and privilege to choose type or place of labor for personal gain is another in the long list of advantages our citizens may claim.

This Labor Day, let us all reflect that it is the WILLINGNESS TO WORK on the part of our people that has brought our nation to its present status and has provided all the goods and services we enjoy. And while we rest a while from our labors, let us resolve to continue a willingness (to work) and our nation will ever remain strong.

News From The Home Front

The Belle Glade Herald, Aug. 29, 1974, 1 B

New-quick!! Did they make teachers as pretty as Aggie Rosamondo above when you were in school? No Way!! A former graduate of Belle Glade High, Aggie Rosamondo (everybody calls me Aggie) has returned to her alma mater as a first year teacher and is now signing in for work above. Meanwhile at the right Judy Bette Cerna tries to tell Judy Bette how to type. Only comment from the teacher was something about the blind trying to lead the blind. But below the real work begins as the cante prepare one of those good two meals at Wanda's (Cafeteria). It was a momentous day for the man at the lower right, Charles McCurdy, who started his first day at work at the job he went to court to fight for and win-principal at Glades Central. And at the lower right-well-you know. A few relaxing moments before the ordeal of classes for a whole nether year. Cheer up kids-only 179 more working days left to go until school's out again!!!!!!

Belle Glade Jaycees to Help in Telethon

Belle Glade will have a part in the nationally-televised Jerry Lewis Telethon for Muscular Dystrophy for the fourth consecutive year, according to Wayne Meredith, local telethon chairman.

As in the past, the local telethon center will be in the Jaycee's clubhouse, behind the Little League Baseball Park in Belle Glade and any individuals or business firms wanting to make pledges may do so by calling 986-7846 between 12:30 p.m. Sunday Sept. 1 and 6:30 p.m. Monday, Sept. 2.

Meredith is hopeful this year's telethon will be the best ever for Glades residents. In the past years most businesses have been closed because of the Labor holiday and there haven't been many pledges made, but maybe the trend will change this year, he said.

The telethon will be carried by WPEC-TV Channel 12 in West Palm Beach. Meredith indicated Belle Glade has a line to the coast so it won't be necessary to call WPEC directly for special request as they can be handled locally.

Although the Belle Glade Jaycees and Auxiliary are sponsoring the local telethon, more volunteer help is still needed. Anyone interested in working with the local telethon, please call 986-5200 after 5 p.m.

Meredith and his family has worked with the Labor Day Telethon for the past four years, his reason being that he and his wife have two healthy children while others have not been so fortunate.

"With that thought in mind, I hope the people in the Glades take part in this year's telethon by making a pledge. Remember if your children are healthy, show your appreciation by phoning in a pledge."

School Days!! School Days!!

Some 7,000 Students Report in Glades

School days, school days, dear old rotten school days!

About 7,000 Glades area students were singing that song Monday morning when they reported to the first day of class during the 1974-75 school year.

Official attendance records were not available from all schools, but the 7,000 figure is fairly close. Over at Glades Central High School where Charles McCurdy started his first day on the job he went to court to win, 937 students turned up.

McCurdy, who replaced Roy Carter as principal of the school, said he expected about 300 more students to report to class over the next 60 days.

Official figure for students reporting to public schools was 5460. The largest total was 3146 in the nine elementary schools in the west area.

The confusing total came in the "junior high" category. There were 937 students reporting to Glades Central-but only 642 of them were in 10 through 12. Some 295 were ninth graders and even though they go to a senior high school they are considered junior high students for county statistical purposes.

Pahokee High School is actually a junior-senior high which houses grades eight through 12. But only 295 of the students showing up for the first day of class were in grades 10 through 12. So this made the total 10 through 12 population 937-the exact figure of the number of students who started at Glades Central.

Lumped into the junior high category were 1,451 students culled from ninth grade at Glades Central, eighth and ninth at Pahokee Jr.-Sr. High and Lake Shore Junior High.

Two-hundred-and-fifty-eight students started kindergarten and there were 68 children in the exceptional child program at Gove Elementary.

Not all the teaching positions in the public schools have been filled in the Glades either. Eleven teachers are still needed.

Lake Shore Elementary needs one fifth and one sixth grade teacher, while Gladesview needs a fourth grade instructor. Eastlake needs one fifth grade and one sixth grade teacher plus two special education teachers.

Pahokee Jr.-Sr. High needs one special ed teacher, one math teacher and one DGT faculty member. Over in South Bay they need one special test teacher.

Enrollment was down in the public schools over this time last year. Fifty fewer students reported for classes. At the peak of the season over 8,000 students will be enrolled in public schools in the Glades, an increase of 37 per cent over the current enrollment.

In the private schools the Baptist Christian Day School reported 536 children reporting in day care through 12. Some student openings are still available.

The Lutheran School reported 92 children enrolled, over 30 children below opening day last year. Openings for students are still available.

Glades Day School with campuses in both Pahokee and Belle Glade would not reveal exact enrollment figures.

"It is the highest we have ever had," said head mistress Miriam Burgess. "But it is board policy not to release the exact enrollment."

An estimated 500 children attend both campuses.

Apparently the first few days of school went smoothly for both private and public schools, according to official reports. There were no major problems reported except for the usual first day confusion.

The Women's regular softball season is finally over and for the first time in six years Wallis Pharmacy has come out on top.

Timesaver squelched any hopes we might have about getting one last shot at the title by running over its last opponents, all except for Royal's who really gave them a scare-but lost in the final inning by one run.

There are only two games left now, the A and B Allstar game and the championship game, in which the winner of the Allstar game plays Timesaver.

Now one would think that since the best players are picked off each team, it would be a cinch for the allstar team to be real strong, right? Wrong. What isn't figured into the team is the various positions each player is in.

Ninety per cent of the players who are picked as allstars are infielders—don't ask me why. Maybe they have something about outfielders. Anyway, for instance the team I'm on (Team A) ended up with two first basemen, three second basemen, two shortstops and three third basemen. Interestingly enough, we didn't have any catchers on any of the teams named to one of the teams.

Luckily though, most of the girls named to these teams are good enough where they can switch positions on the team if they have to—which indeed some of them will.

Team A had their first practice Sunday while Team B was to wait until Tuesday night to work out.

The Allstar game was originally scheduled for last Tuesday night but due to a little confusion (which always reigns) it had to be switched to tonight. The championship game, however, will be played as originally scheduled, next Tuesday night, Sept. 3.

To celebrate their number one spot in the league, the Timesaver players threw a pool party at the Christian municipal pool and invited the Wallis players to join them (to rub it in a little, no doubt). Although several of the players from both teams were missing, everyone had a fine time splashing around.

The first pool party our team had this year, I was going to wait quite awhile before I went in swimming, but I really didn't get a chance because four or five girls jumped me and half dragged-half carried me to the edge of the pool before I was thrown in right on my back. But they didn't get a chance this time. I dove in almost as soon as I got there—it was pretty hot and besides those giant-size mosquitoes would've gotten me if I had waited.

After several girls had gotten into the pool, about four or five of us decided to play "horse" on the large innertube. Cheryl Waters had so thoughtfully brought. In case you have never heard of this game, the idea is to get several people on the tube on opposite sides and to start rocking the tube, doing it harder and harder so eventually someone falls off.

It is usually played by two people, but all of us decided to give it a try. It took about 10 minutes to get everyone on and only a minute for everyone to fall off. What a flailing of arms and legs it was as somebody's knee struck another one in the face or an elbow hit a back. But it was worth it.

Afterwards, everyone got a shem-reel treat from Wayne Sullivan when he started to sing while floating around in the innertube. We heard everything from Silence Is Golden to Delta Dawn—he really covered a wide area of tunes (eh, Wayne?), and of course some of the girls had to try out their vocal chords along with him.

Unfortunately, we had to leave amidst the songs.

Oh well, that's it for now—see ya next week.

Timesaver Players Clinch First Place

The Queens are dead—long live the Queens.

Timesaver women's softball team ended six years of frustration for the entire league last Wednesday night when they clinched first place in the Glade's Women's Softball League with a 25-4 thumping of Glades Sugar.

With that victory they dethroned the reigning champs, Wallis Pharmacy, for half a game. Timesaver finished the year with a 12-1 record while Wallis finished with a 12-2 record.

Timesaver left no doubt they were out to clinch the deciding game early. They jumped on Glades Sugar pitcher Rosa Goodfriend for six runs in the first inning of six hits. Their effort was helped along by three Glades Sugar errors.

The game really wasn't as close as the score indicates. Timesaver pitcher Linda Moss had a five hit, one run game going into the last inning. But Glades Sugar exploded for five runs in the bottom of the seventh on the strength of an Andre Marotta home run. Glades Sugar finished the night with six runs on eight hits while Timesaver totaled 23 runs on 25 hits.

It was the first time in six years Wallis had won a title. And the dethroning was accomplished by a team which was the laughing stock of the league only four years ago.

Timesaver's only loss of the year was to Wallis, 14-7. Timesaver had both first basemen and third basemen out the night of the loss.

Wallis lost its first game of the year to Royal, 19-7, in a matchhull. Wallis team which lost with starting left fielder Cheryl Waters out with an injury and starting first baseman Rennie Pike on vacation.

In the showdown match between the two teams, however, Wallis dropped it 7-5. Both teams were at full strength.

That meant somebody had to beat Timesaver in the last two weeks of the season. Wallis had another shot at the title. Royal, another push off, but lost in the bottom of the seventh. 12-11. Billy Thigpen's team could almost brag that it bumped off the two top teams in the league.

But almost wasn't enough. Timesaver ripped up the rest of its opponents. Glades Sugar was Wallis' last hope and that hope died in the first inning.

LINDA MOSS SLAMS FIRST OF TWO DOUBLES IN 23-6 VICTORY
Timesaver clinched first place edging out Wallis by one-half a game

Wallis winning the championship has been almost a tradition in Belle Glade. It had won the title six out of the eight years the league has been in existence.

In fact, the old ad of "break up the Yankees" changed to "break up Wallis Pharmacy" after last's first two championships. Only difference was the Yankees were never broken up—Wallis was.

But they still went on to win four more championships in a row before losing to a young, aggressive Timesaver team this year.

So this year it will be Timesaver which must face an all star team rather than Wallis. Wallis won five of six all star games which traditionally comes at the end of the season.

The seven teams in the league name their four best players as all stars. These 28 women are divided into two teams of 14 each and square off in an all star game. The winner of this all star game plays the league champions.

This year's all star game will be played tonight at the Canal Field, field at 8 p.m. Trophies for most valuable player and best sport on each team will be awarded before the game.

The game between Timesaver and the winning all star team will be played Tuesday, Sept. 3 at 8 p.m. at the Canal Point field.

Boat Safety Course to Be Held

Boating Safety and Seashore is the name of an afternoon course to be presented by Flotilla 55, U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary. The class will be held on Monday nights, 7:30 p.m., at the Glades Central High School Library, beginning Sept. 2.

Members of Flotilla 55 will be teaching the course with the use of slides and films. Retired Captains from the coast will assist in the instruction and teach some of the lessons. Interested persons are asked to register at the first meeting with the cost of Text, Study Guide and registration of $4.00.

Several new boating laws have been put in effect during the past year and information will be presented on these. A new marine code is being put into use; there are new regulations on personal flotation devices (life jackets) and all motorboats will have to be registered regardless of horsepower.

With the completion of this course and some advanced study in navigation and history, local residents will be qualified to join the U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary. Flotilla 55 presently has 25 members from Belle Glade, Palooka, Clewiston, Moore Haven, Okechobee, South Bay, Loxahatchee and Immokalee. Local members assist in Search and Rescue, Operations and Education and have fellowship through Rendezvous and practice sessions on the lake.

Raider Defense Shows Offense

Glades Central Raiders ended their two-day work out with a twenty-five minute scrimmage Friday evening with the defense overshadowing the offense by causing several fumbles and showing real quickness in pursuing the football. Defensive players who showed real quickness were: Connelius Brown, Willie Terry, and Ronald Jackson. Tackles were: Ernest Jackson, Timothy Conny and Robert Wester. Linebackers who looked good were: Calvin Williams, Michael Washington, David Kinlaw and Lester Finney.

The secondary composed of Anthony Parrish, Hector Velazquez, Willie Wright and Patrick Collins. They gave up four short passes in the scrimmage plus supporting the run aggressively.

The emphasis will be on improving blocking assignments and improving the timing in the backfield. Johnny Rutledge and David Philpott directed the offense.

Running the ball for the offense was Alexander Brown, Howard Moses, Norman Smith, Willie Terry, Nathaniel Howard, Anthony Russell, Ernest Jackson and Clark Lloyd at tackle, David Kinlaw, Charles Ford, Allen Innes and Lester Finney guarded with Dicky Sweet and Bruce Rimer at sweet.

The Raiders are getting ready for the big jamboree to be held a week from Friday at the Raider field. The Raiders will play the second quarter against Boca Raton and the fourth quarter against Martin County. Pahokee will play Martin County in the first quarter and Boca Raton in the fourth quarter. It will be the jamboree schools against the bigger 4A schools in the jamboree.

There will be a punting, passing and extra point contest plus three 40 yard dashes for the backs, linemen and heavyweights. The punting, passing and extra point contests will start at 7:30 p.m. with the first quarter of the football game starting at 8:00 p.m. There will be kickoffs to start each quarter. Price of admission at the jamboree will be $1.00 at the gate.

Season tickets will go on sale this week at the high school for the jamboree. Price of the season tickets will be $12.50. Season tickets will be sold at the jamboree. So get yours early.

It All Adds Up

In these days of runaway food prices, general inflation, and well-meant complications like unit pricing, there's no doubt the American food shopper needs all the help she can get.

Such help sometimes comes from quite unlikely sources. You might expect helpful hints from consumers' unions, food processors, civic organizations, and the like, but not from a big electronics manufacturer.

Expectations to the contrary, Casio, Inc., the pioneer electronic calculator company, has come up with a baker's dozen ways to help stretch the shrinking supermarket dollar.

Here they are:

1. Don't shop on an empty stomach; pushing your cart around when you're hungry invariably makes you buy more food items.

2. Beware of stores that give trading stamps. Somehow by has to pay the cost of these giveaways and it's usually you. Remember that "convenience" foods—those that are prepared in advance—just have to cost more than those you prepare yourself. Nobody works for nothing.

The Parson Pontificates

It seems to be fashionable today to grouse after new ways to worship. To keep pace with the world, we must have songs with a new twist, prayers with a new twist, and new language to replace the old time-tested theological terms, such as sin and salvation. Those terms are too hard for the present generation to understand? Now, there is nothing wrong with new approaches so long as they are relevant, appropriate, effective, sensible, and in good taste. Some things need to be new: new birth, new commitment, new ways to serve the Lord. But I doubt that our Lord, who "is the same yesterday, today, and forever," is greatly impressed with our obsession with religious lingo. [See Acts 17:21-31]

Group to Sing

The First Baptist Church of Belle Glade will host "The Turning Point," a Christian worship group, Friday Aug. 30 at 7:30 p.m.

Currently on a ten month concert tour around the country, the Turning Point group shares its Christian faith through music and testimonies in churches, high schools, colleges and civic groups.

Their music and message speaks to all age groups, young and old, and everyone is invited to hear them.

Quartet to Appear

There will be a singing at the Protestant Holiness Church, 1121 W. Canal St., on Sunday and Sunday, Aug. 31 and Sept. 1 at 8 p.m.

The popular Ruff Quartet from Teller Plains, Tenn. will be the featured singers. This quartet will bless your heart with ministry in song.

The pastor N.H. Connell extends a hearty welcome to all.

MUSICAL CHAIRS

"Dear Mr. Swaim: My husband can't settle down to a job. He goes from one to another like musical chairs. We have no security and it's really getting to me. I sometimes think I'm going to lose my mind."

Your feelings of insecurity are understandable, but don't forget the nature of life itself is change. It is true that some people want security more than anything else, but security is just a temporary fix. The Bible teaches, "Ye know not what shall be on the morrow. For what is your life? It is even a vapor, that appeareth for a little time and then vanisheth away." Let me hasten to say that a man should be willing to find and develop a good job responsibility. Your husband, no doubt, needs to learn that there is no perfect job, that every responsibility has its assets as well as its liabilities, its good points as well as its bad ones. As a Christian, though, you should remember that the Bible speaks of being "strangers and pilgrims on earth." [Hebrews 11:13]. We have no permanent home here. We are looking for that city which hath foundations, whose builder and maker is God. The only security we can ever find is to be found in Jesus, and by putting Him first in our lives, other opportunities and responsibilities will fall into place.

For a confidential and Biblical answer to your questions, write Larry Swaim, 268 Ponce de Leon Avenue, N.E., Atlanta, Georgia 30308.

Anecdota Interesante

Se cuenta que en cierta ocasion la hija de una familia que acostumbraba a ir a la Iglesia regularmente y como es natural, escuchaba a sus padres comentar el valor de la misma.

En cierta ocasion en la cual jugaba con algunas amigas, su suegra preferida quedo estropeada al caer alguien sobre el coche donde la habian puesto. La nina heranda, como la mueren, y salio corriendo hacia la Iglesia. Al llegar a la misma pregunto al Clerigo: "¿En aqui donde remiendan corazones?"

Ojala que esta anecdota sencilla nos ayude a buscar las Iglesias y en ellas al Cristo que "remienda" nuestros corazones quebrantados y los "remienda" a la vez.

El domingo asista a la Iglesia de su predileccion.

Iglesia Bautista: Rev. Angel Acosta, Pastor; Iglesia Catolica: Rev. Padre Paul Saghy, Parroco; Iglesia Metodista: Rev. Rebecca Radillo, Pastora; Iglesia Pentecostal: Rev. Bernardo Cruzado, Pastor.

Committee Studying Land Protection

Environmental protection for land in southwest Palm Beach County is under study by the Palm Beach County Land Exchange Committee.

Director of the Department of Natural Resources, Harmon Shields, recently appointed Rep. Tom Lewis to serve on that committee.

"I heard about the work of the committee from the members of the Florida Wildlife Federation," Lewis said, "and I was very interested in the nature of the work which is being done."

"As the name indicates, environmentally endangered land in southwest Palm Beach County is being studied for possible land exchange in other areas of the county or state."

Lewis said, "most of the land in that area of the county is owned by a few large landowners, and if drained could be used for agricultural production."

"Draining is just what we on the committee are afraid of," said the North Palm Beach legislator, "heavy draining causes the land to dry out, and prolonged drying is a perfect way to start combustion in that Glades muck."

"As we all know, fires in that area deplete the wildlife and destroy the ecological balance of those swamp areas," Lewis said.

"Another reason for keeping the area undeveloped," said Lewis, "is to maintain the proper water level throughout the swamplands to further protect and preserve the wildlife. In fact, southwest Palm Beach County has the highest rate for deer production in Florida, and possibly the entire United States. Without water, the deer would die."

The Land Exchange Committee presently is determining which sections of land are in greatest environmental danger. Aerial viewing is being conducted, as well as a closer look by airboat or jeep. When the final recommendations are brought before the committee, the land owners will be given the opportunity of exchanging endangered lands for other lands. The landowners in the southwest portion of Palm Beach County have agreed to the exchange method.

"This land is actually a part of the Everglades," said Lewis. "I am most grateful that Harmon Shields has given me this opportunity to help preserve a small part of Florida for the generations to come."

O'Malley Appointed

TALLAHASSEE, FLA. - Florida Insurance Commissioner Treasurer Thomas D. O'Malley was appointed yesterday as the new chairman of the National Association of Insurance Commissioners Technical Subcommittee on the Valuation of Bonds and Other Securities.

O'Malley, who prior to the new appointment was vice-chairman of the subcommittee, says they are "taking a look at the way bonds are valued in investment portfolios of all insurance companies, to see if new valuation procedures need to be adopted."

He said a study is being undertaken to decide if companies writing fire and casualty coverages should set up reserves for securities to offset fluctuations in the bond and stock market similar to the reserves now required of life insurance companies.

The subcommittee is also looking, he said, into "strengthening investment reserves which now apply to life companies and may in the future also apply to fire and casualty companies."

The Florida Commissioner is serving a third term as chairman of the Consumer Participation subcommittee of the Commissioners' National Association. He is also a member of eight others dealing with various aspects of insurance.

Insuring Fake Furs

The standard limitation for theft of personal property in the homeowners policy is 50% of the insured value of the home. However, for a certain class of valuables—furs, jewelry, precious stones, etc., the aggregate limit is normally set at $500. Naturally, it is prudent to insure these items separately for their full value to avoid monetary loss.

To be classified as fur it has to come off the back of an animal. Any animal will do, from mink to moose. It then falls under this $500 limitation.

On the other hand, fake furs, although they could cost even more than the real McCoy, are not furs. They are made of fabrics woven to resemble fur, and in some cases it takes an expert to distinguish them from real fur. Fake furs, therefore, do not come under this limitation and would be covered to the same extent as your other personal property. I guess this is the insurance industry's way of unknowingly protecting our animal kingdom.
